The Dean's Message

Our dedicated students and faculty continued to make great strides toward the semester's end, engaging in a variety of events, webinars, and field trips - both within our local community and across borders.

In a highly anticipated return, culinary and baking students participated in a study abroad trip to Italy and France. This immersive Faculty-Led Study Tour offered valuable opportunities for growth, equipping our students with practical skills and an international perspective, nurturing them to become exceptional global citizens.

Another moment of pride arose as we celebrated the recipients of the Longo Faculty of Business Special Awards. These extraordinary students have exemplified unwavering dedication to their academic pursuits, the Longo Faculty of Business, and the broader community.

Read on to find out how our faculty and students are preparing for industry success, strengthening partnerships and taking their educational pursuits to new heights.

WE ARE
BUSINESS AT ITS BEST™
